The Tribune has a line at the head of its columns, stating that it is the official organ of Ormsby County. While we dislike very much to differ from our contemporary, we call its attention to the fact that the APPEAL is now the official organ of Ormsby county.

Senator Jones's idea that in case the Sherman law should be repealed and nothing given as a substitute, it would have the effect to create a silver party, is not a new idea, but it is a sound one. The effort of the formation of such a party, if wisely done, is graphically described by the Senator. For the time being, at least, it would sweep the country.—Salt Lake Tribune.

Not a Contestant.

Haskell will be at the Arlington tomorrow; if he doesn't get lost in the Reno celebration. "Haskell" and "shirt" can almost be pronounced in one breath, and have almost become synonymous. Haskell means shirt, and shirt means Haskell, and the Shirt Fiend expects to have the following incorporated into Webster's dictionary next year: "Haskell, n.—An article of clothing, formerly known as a shirt."

A Good Judge.

A China laundryman, as a general thing, is a good judge of the Caucasian's ways. A Comstock Chinaman very often speaks, thus to himself as he irons a shirt. Picking up a shirt showing evidence of having been well cared for, he says: "Bachelor. Him landlady fix him." Picking up another buttonless and frayed at the wrist and neck, John remarks: "Him married man."—Va. Chronicle.

Explanatory.

ED. APPEAL:—Regarding the firemen's controversy I will say: It was supposed that the Reno firemen were a paid company, and would not be allowed to leave the town, so no invitation was extended them. Their expenses were not paid by the Carson firemen, nor did they eat at our expense. Respectfully, ED. CARNEY.

MRS. DUPUIS WINS.

Miss Lottie Gladding a Close Second.

The Beauty Contest ended last evening at 6 o'clock, with Mrs. Dupuis first under the wire, with 3059 votes. The judges thinking that everything was in, added up the figures on the boxes and announced the result.

An admirer of Miss Gladding's beauty seeing that 500 votes would win, mounted a bicycle and made a bee line for the APPEAL office, and came back on the wings of the wind with 500 votes. Having no time to write the name in the blank space, he put a rubber band around 100 at a time with the name written on a slip of paper, and threw them in one minute of six by Golden's time.

A wrangle ensued as to whether these votes should be counted, as they did not bear the name of any person.

Miss Martin, U. S. Deputy Marshal Stern and Ernest Zoerberier, the judges, retired to a private room and discussed the question.

It was finally held that the APPEAL of Sunday, June 24, contained a clause which decided the matter, where it was stated that when votes were to be deposited after the ballot boxes reached Golden's, they could be placed in envelopes with the name of the person voted for, in order to facilitate counting.

It was held by the committee that all votes should have the name of the person voted on filled in the blank as the blank space under the word "Name" was obviously for that purpose.

If blanks were to be accepted they would, under the rule require to be in envelopes.

If bundles of votes were left blank in open boxes it would open the door to fraud, as it would be no trouble at all to transfer these blank votes from one box to another. It was therefore unanimously decided by the Committee that it would be unfair to all concerned to count votes which had no names on them; also that the voter's knowledge of the amount necessary to win, gave him an undue advantage over the other contestants.

Other blank votes were discovered besides those cast at the last moment and were thrown out.

After the count the vote stood:

Mrs. P. Dupuis.....3059
Miss Lottie Gladding.....2565
Miss Louise Rinckel.....745
Mrs. Sam Wright.....527

Those under 500 votes are omitted from the list, the distance flag having fallen at that point.

The voters have decided that Mrs. Dupuis is the handsomest married lady in town, and Miss Lottie Gladding the handsomest unmarried lady in Carson.

Mrs. Aube was the Generalissimo of the French forces during the contest. The total vote of the contest was 8543.

Backed by Big Money.

Denver Col. July 1.—The Denver, Salt Lake and San Francisco Railroad Company was incorporated today for $10,000,000. The incorporators, as placed on record, are: John Evans, capitalist; W. N. Byers, banker; E. W. Rollins, banker; George Tritch, banker; F. A. Keener, J. S. Brown, J. J. Riethmann, J. W. Nesmith, R. W. Woodbury, J. H. Porter and H. M. Porter. The incorporators are among the leading citizens of Colorado and represent at least $50,000,000.

John Evans, who is largely at the back of the enterprise, has never yet recorded a failure. He built the South Park Railroad to Leadville, and to him was due the Fort Worth extension to Colorado. He never takes a step until certain of his ground, and the gentlemen who are associated with him are equally keen and successful financiers. Their names and Ex-Governor Evans' activity are an assurance that the road is not a paper road. The contemplated line has been the main subject in commercial circles here, as Denver now sees the opening of vast fields in Colorado and Utah and a direct outlet to the Golden Gate. Enough money is already at hand to proceed with the preliminary work.

Editor Buckingham, of California, writes back to his journal that he kissed the Barney Stone at the exposition, a man who would walk right by the Nautch girls on the Midway Plaisance, to kiss a cobbler stone, has a poor idea of fun at a fair. But then Buck's wife was along.

A BI-METALLIST'S WARNING.

Senator John P. Jones Predicts Dire Disaster if Silver is Disturbed.

New York, July 1.—Senator John P. Jones talked freely to-night on the President's action in calling an extra session of Congress. The Senator is of the opinion that during the extra session nothing will be definitely accomplished, and thus expressed his views: "If those who favor the repeal of the Sherman bill should succeed and do not enact a proper substitute for it a long-continued period of suffering and hardship must ensue by reason of the reduction of the money volume for the world. Those who have fully studied the money question understand that such a long and protracted crisis inevitably result in the reduction of the prices of all property and all values excepting money and gilded security or bonds, which, being money futures, most increase in selling price. The bi-metallists seek to prevent this ruinous fall in the price of commodities and corresponding in the purchasing power of money, believing that the best money is a money of unchanging value. Gold money is not of unchanging value, it having appreciated 50 per cent in twenty years or so since the demonetization of silver. It order to put a stop to this ruinous rise in gold it is necessary that silver should share in the work of gold as it did before 1873.

"The fight for free coinage will be continued with renewed energy on the part of the advocates of silver. If the monometallists succeed in repealing the present silver purchase law, which I cannot believe is probable without some satisfactory substitute, such as free coinage, then undoubtedly a readjustment of the political parties must take place. In such a case all the advocates of silver would stand together in one party regardless of prior political affiliations and by continuing the fight on the sole issue of free coinage would, in my belief, eventually succeed in securing a substantial measure of monetary reform.

"In my opinion it is too soon to determine whether the India order is to result in the demonetization of silver in India. There is not the least doubt that the order of the Council is fraught with most momentous consequences for the world at large. The people of the United States are capable of self-government and will be able to protect themselves, as the people of India are not, from the sinister machinations of money-lenders. This country is not annexed to or a dependency of Great Britain.

"If the non producers and income and creditor classes conspires in their own interest to destroy the automatic system by the demonetization of one of the precious metals, and that the only one of the metals that promises to supply a sufficient quantity to maintain the equity of contracts and stability of prices, and to prevent the the destructive rise in the value of money, it need not be a matter of surprise if the producing classes and debtors in turn should unite to serve the other metal in the same way."

Empire Notes.

The Empire school closed on Friday for the term. There was singing, recitations, dialogues, speeches and essay read by the graduating class, Miss Jennie May and Miss Nellie Carney. Everybody present seemed to enjoy the show. There was to be a song by the Empire Glee Club, but through a mistake the poet mailed it to Dr. Guinan. The club has promised to sing it at Wiggins' hall on the night of the Fourth for the entertainment of those who attend.

Otto Werner and Walter Cook have cut their first crop of alfalfa though three weeks late, it is fully up to the standard. They expect to cut two more crops this season. The mills will be all shut down in a few days on account of the low price of silver. The small boys have commenced their aquatic sports. From six to sixty of them can be seen in the river at all hours of the day. NIEL MAHER.
